Message from the Chair

Dr. Saba Rasheed Ali

Hello SVP members! This will be my last column as SVP chair. Thank you for all your support. I am very grateful to our wonderful executive board and I am excited for the next chapter of SVP with Pat Rottinghaus at the helm. I will continue to serve as past chair so, I hope to support Pat as he continues to move us forward. I also want to thank Sue Whiston for her service to SVP for the past six years, as she rotates off the board.

I want to say thank you for the very successful 12th Biennial Conference in Tallahassee, FL at Florida State University's campus. Drs. Janet Lenz, Jim Sampson, and Bob Reardon did a wonderful job of planning this biennial conference, which will be held May 16-17. The consideration for every aspect and detail from van rides to the career center to the tours and lunches made for a very enjoyable experience. The title of the conference was "Integrating Theory, Research, & Practice." I was very excited about the diverse perspectives that were represented at the conference. Many important and meaningful conversations and presentations also made this conference a huge success. It was also interspersed with a bit of fun (door prizes, dinners). I also wanted to thank our student representatives (Ellie Castine and Brit Davis) for setting up the mentoring dinner for students. This was a wonderful event that brought together senior SVP members with junior members for a night of conversation and fun. I also want to wish Dr. Janet Lenz the best as she ends a remarkable career of service and scholarship in the career development field. The end of the conference brought a fitting tribute to her truly remarkable career.

We are also making plans for SVP events at the American Psychological Association Annual Convention in Denver this summer. The full list of events is published in the current edition of this newsletter. Please look for these events. This year's conversation hour featured guest is Dr. Ellen McWhirter. I am sorry that I will not be attending APA this year to participate in the conversation hour. I happen to know firsthand the power of Ellen's mentorship and I know that many others will benefit from hearing her career story. I also hope that SVP members will attend the other events and in particular, the SVP student poster reception.

Also, please vote for the new officers for SVP. We will be electing a treasurer and a SVP chair this year. Neeta has sent the survey monkey link to the SVP listserv so please plan to cast your vote.

Thanks to all the board and SVP members for their work this year and good luck to Pat as he begins his term!

2016 Society for Vocational Psychology (SVP) Conference Integrating Theory, Research, and Practice

*Dr. Janet Lenz
Florida State University*

The Society for Vocational Psychology recently held its Biennial conference at Florida State University in Tallahassee, Florida. Individuals from more than 50 different organizations and 8 different countries came together to discuss the integration of theory, research, and practice.

Some participants enjoyed a pre-conference hike in a local wildlife refuge. The conference included 5 Plenary sessions, 21 program presentations, and 25 roundtable sessions.

On Monday night, attendees enjoyed a reception with 22 poster session presentations, highlighting research and practice in the career development and vocational psychology fields. Conference chair, Dr. Janet Lenz noted: “We were pleased to have leading scholars and practitioners in the field of vocational psychology, visiting our campus for two days to share their work and expertise.”

One of the conference attendees stated on the evaluation form: "...really appreciated the welcoming environment, how easy it was to connect with new people, rich conversations and shared interests." The conference planning committee would like to extend its thanks to all of those who helped make the conference happen, who contributed their professional expertise, and those who journeyed to Tallahassee and Florida State University to participate in conference events. We enjoyed hosting everyone!

Section Member News and Notes

David Blustein, Ph.D. received the 2016 Distinguished Leadership in Psychology Award from the Committee on Socioeconomic Status (CSES). CSES Leadership Awards recognize the outstanding achievements of psychologists and friends of psychology who have made significant contributions to the understanding of socioeconomic status and the lives and wellbeing of the poor. This awards speaks to Dr. Blustein's dedication and leadership in applying psychology to broadening the understanding of the roles of SES and poverty in human welfare.

Marie S. Hammond, Ph.D., received her second National Science Foundation grant on African American and Women's STEM career development. The $1.42 million EHR Core award will permit her to gather longitudinal data on these students' interest, barriers, supports, commitment, mental complexity, and career management skills to improve theory and provide a foundation for intervention development and policy change. This award grew out of gaps in the research literature that Marie discovered during her recently completed HBCU-UP Broadening Participation Research award ($350,000; 2012-2015). This HBCU-UP BPR grant tested a culturally-appropriate intervention to increase African American STEM students' ability to manage their career in STEM.

Message from SVP Student Representatives

Ellie Castine & Brittan Davis

The APA Convention provides amazing learning and networking opportunities but can also be totally overwhelming because there are so many options from which to choose. In effort to help you navigate the conference, we selected numerous presentations related to social justice, engaging communities, your own personal career development, vocational psychology, and other related events. We encourage you to attend the programming, socials, and challenge yourself to step out of your comfort zone. Don't forget that professors were once students too so don't be afraid to introduce yourself and say hello. Enjoy!
