FROM THE PRESIDENT

This last column as President of the Division has been the hardest to write. It is hard to say goodbye to this position; I know how much I had hoped to accomplish and how much still remains to be done. I am humbled by the commitment, dedication, and hard work of so many people, and by the trust given to me, the rest of the Executive Board, and to the hard working committees. I did not elect to have a single major Presidential Project; instead, I decided to develop and/or support a series of smaller projects that were collaborative with other groups. Here is an update on these various projects.

In planning these projects, I reviewed the divisions and other groups with which we had significant overlap in membership, assuming that would reflect two things: 1) that there would be a significant number of counseling psychologists in those divisions—even more than the overlap in membership would suggest; and 2) that we would have interests and goals in common. So, here are the projects!

- Development of the Council of the Specialty of Counseling Psychology (CSCP) which represents Division 17; the Student Affiliate Group; the Council of Counseling Psychology Training Programs; Association of University and College Counseling Center Directors; ABPP-Counseling; Academy of Counseling Psychology; and Association of Counseling Center Training Agencies, and which elects our representative to the Council of Specialties.
- Miniconvention developed for Convention 2000 with Division 42. (Psychologists in Independent Practice) on Psychologists Creating Impact, including workshops on advocacy, leadership, and media presentation. Also includes presentation of awards for leadership in public policy to US Congresspersons Ted Strickland (D-OH) and Brian Baird (D-WA).

- Joint midyear Executive Board meetings, including a workshop on bridging the gap between science and practice, with Divisions 29 (Psychotherapy) and 43 (Family).
- Joined the Interdivisional Healthcare Committee with Divisions 22, 38 (Health Psychology), and 40 (Clinical Neuropsychology).
- Submitted an interdivisional grant to support development of materials to assist divisions in increasing minority participation; with Divisions 22 (Rehabilitation), 35 (Psychology of Women), 42 (Psychologists in Independent Practice), 44 (Society for the Psychological Study of Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Issues), 45 (Society for the Psychological Study of Ethnic Minority Issues), and 51 (Society for the Psychological Study of Men and Masculinity).
- Supported the second National Multicultural Conference and Summit to be held January 25 and 26, 2001, with Divisions 35 and 45.
- Supported the National Conference on Counseling Psychology with CCPTP.
- Facilitated the ongoing work on the Guidelines for Multicultural Competence with Division 45.

All of these—and other projects—reflect my interest in collaboration and in the great possibilities we have when we join our strength with others. It is through shared interests and abilities that we build our greatest capacity to affect the world. Thank you for the opportunity to join the leadership of our Division in these wonderful efforts. This has been a terrific year.

FROM THE PRESIDENT-ELECT

In the April Newsletter, I wrote about the two conferences next spring, the 2nd Multicultural Summit and the 2001 National Conference in Counseling Psychology. In this column, I'd like to let you know more about the national conference which I am co-chairing with Bob McPherson, and which is my presidential initiative. Elsewhere in this Newsletter, there is an announcement of the conference with information on the dates and contact information. Here I'd like to introduce you to the committee chairs, and tell you more about the planning for the conference.

- One committee is charged with gathering information about counseling psychology. Some of you received a survey asking specifically your ideas about the conference and areas you would like to see covered in the conference. That survey was put together by Rod Goodyear, Jim Lichtenburg, Bob McPherson, and Nancy Murdock. They are also putting together another survey that will replicate and extend the survey done in the 1980's about counseling psychologists' beliefs and attitudes about their training and the places in which they work. The latter survey will go out to a sample of counseling psychologists who belong to Division 17, as well as to counseling psychologists who belong to APA, but do not belong to the division. One of our major goals is to find out ways to be more inclusive of counseling psychologists in a wide variety of settings. While we cannot meet the needs of everyone, we want to learn how to do a better job of reaching out to counseling psychologists who are not in traditional roles.

Many of the individuals who responded to the survey about the conference told us NOT to do "business as usual." In other words, while many find the APA convention stimulating, they did not want this national conference to be another "mini-APA." We couldn't agree more, and so we are planning a variety of activities and ways that individuals can be involved in shaping the future of counseling psychology.
- There will be symposia and poster sessions, but with a focus on allowing time for discussion and lots of time for roundtables. The program committee is co-chaired by Sam Buser, a psychologist in private practice in Houston and President of the Texas Psychological Association, and Madonna Constantine of Teachers College, Columbia University. A call for papers will go out in mid-June, and proposals will be due in mid-September.

- In addition to the traditional presentation formats, there will also be social action groups. This committee, co-led by David Blustein, Boston College, Nancy Elman, University of Pittsburgh, and Larry Gerstein, Ball State, will organize small working groups of between 8-15 participants who will focus on a circumscribed set of issues relating to the major conference themes. These groups will meet each day of the conference with the goal of developing an action plan on a set of issues. The social action groups will seek to examine the broader political, economic, cultural, and historical circumstances of a given set of issues in order to situate counseling psychology's concerns in their natural context. The social action groups will seek to link their activities to similar initiatives within our field and more specifically to any relevant initiatives that emerge from the Teachers College Roundtable and the Multicultural Summit. Outcomes for the groups may include: a research agenda, preparation of a policy paper, development of a political action initiative, design of a new training/curriculum innovation, or a task force to examine a set of issues in more depth.
- We have two suites that we will be able to use for meetings of small groups, sections, and other constituent groups that may not always have time to meet at APA. This committee is co-chaired by Kathy Bieschke, Penn State University, and Loreto Prieto, University of Akron.
- We will have a number of continuing education workshops focusing on skill building. These result from a very strong request from counseling psychologists who are private practitioners. This committee is co-chaired by Stephen Cook, Texas Tech University, David White, Executive Director of the Texas Psychological Association, and Tammi Vacha-Haase, Colorado State University.

- A town hall meeting will be the capstone of the conference. This meeting will be held on Sunday morning of the conference and will be a time to pull elements of the conference together. This committee is co-chaired by Angela Byars, University of Wisconsin-Madison, and Greg Neimeyer, University of Florida.
- We are committed to explicitly linking the national conference to the Multicultural Summit. Linda Forrest, Michigan State University, and Emil Rodolfa, University of California-Davis Counseling Center, are co-chairing a group that includes the Section chairs to find ways to link the programs of each conference together.
- We are also committed to finding ways to reach out to a variety of groups and counseling psychologists in many other settings. Jose Abreu, University of Southern California, and Hope Hills, President of Circle Consulting, are co-chairs of publicity and are actively working on that (as evidenced by the announcement in this Newsletter that they have submitted).
- Also in support of our communication is the web site committee, co-chaired by Paul Gore, Southern Illinois University, and Elizabeth Vera, Loyola University.

Planning is well underway, and there are many opportunities to volunteer and be part of this 4th conference in counseling psychology. Please mark your calendars to attend on March 2-4, 2001! If you want to be part of this historic event, please contact me at:

FROM THE VICE-PRESIDENT FOR DIVERSITY AND PUBLIC INTEREST

The 2000 APA Convention in Washington, DC looks to be a pivotal convention for the Division in the area of Diversity and Public Interest, with a number of programs and activities on the slate. Once again, the various Division sections will be engaged in roundtable programs to focus on issues relevant to each section. The Division's newest section, Section on Prevention and Public Interest, will be included in the sections' roundtable program. Additionally, the sections will once again sponsor a poster session during the Monday night social to showcase innovative graduate student research in counseling psychology.

Like last year, Division 17 will co-sponsor a joint social with Division 45 on Saturday (8/5) from 5:30 - 6:50 p.m. Note that the time in your convention program will list this as starting at 6:00 p.m., but it will really begin at 5:30 p.m. (Too long an explanation...trust me on this one!). The highlight of the social will be a recommitment of both Divisions to our shared pledge in celebrating and affirming diversity and to renew our shared goal of collaboratively advancing the work on the Multicultural Counseling Competencies. I would encourage all of you to attend.

An update on the e-journal project - Thomas Palma (Chair, SLGBA) will be coordinating a pilot of the electronic journal project working collaboratively with SERD and SAW. This looks to be an innovative means of fostering continued research in multicultural issues as well as to continue the Sections' dedication to mentoring graduate students and welcoming new professionals into the Division.

Lastly, the APA Congressional Fellows have recently proposed a program that focuses on giving back to the community (e.g., volunteer service to community agencies) that hosts the annual APA convention. There are other professional organizations that already have programs (a.k.a., Service Learning Programs) such as this in place (e.g., American College Personnel Association; ACPA). I believe that this would be a prime opportunity for the Division to become involved in making concrete its commitment to social justice and advocacy.

See you in DC!

The Division 17 Endowment Fund

The Development and Growth of the Division 17 Endowment Fund.

The Division 17 Endowment Fund of the American Psychological Foundation was established during Dr. Bruce Walsh's Division 17 Presidency to sponsor innovative projects that support the practice and science of counseling psychology and further the goals of Division 17. In this Endowment Fund, the principal will be preserved and the income earned will be used to sponsor and support innovative projects. Currently, the principal is valued at $50,000. The interest earned since the Fund's inception has accumulated and is valued at approximately $3,000. We are seeking to increase the principal by requesting donations from Division 17 members. As the principal in the Fund increases, Division 17 will be able to support more projects or larger projects with the accrued interest. Making a donation to the Endowment Fund is an excellent way to make a difference in the future of counseling psychology. Please consider making a donation to the Division 17 Endowment Fund by writing a check for any amount to the "American Psychological Foundation, Division 17 Endowment Fund" and mailing it to: Linda Forrest, Chair of the Division 17 Endowment Fund, 439 Erickson Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing, MI 48843. If you have any questions about the establishment of the Fund, the Division's objectives for distributions of the accrued interest from the Fund, or your donation, feel free to call or email me.

Submission of Proposals for Requesting Funding from the Division 17 Endowment Fund.

The Endowment Fund has been established to support innovative projects such as broadly focused scholarly activities or research projects, public policy initiatives, conferences, workshops, or continuing education programs, that further the strategic goals of Division 17. Any one who is a member, fellow of Division 17, or its Sections, SIGs, or the Student Affiliate Group is eligible to apply and may submit a proposal for consideration for funding. Proposal should include: (a) a 250 word executive summary, (b) a budget proposal for the entire project indicating how Division 17 Endowment Funds would be used, (c) description of other funding and resources to support the project, (d) other sponsors or supporters, if any, of the project, (e) a detailed timeline, (f) an indication of the anticipated impact of the project on the field of counseling psychology, and (g) a summary of the qualifications of the individuals who will be involved in the project. Proposals will be reviewed by the Endowment Fund STG and recommendations will be made to the Division 17 Executive Board who will make a final decision about who will receive Endowment Fund money to support their project. Deadlines for submission of proposals is January 1st and July 1st of each year. Executive Board decisions will be made in February and August of each year. Submit proposals to: Linda Forrest, Chair of Division 17 Endowment Fund, Counseling Psychology Program, 439 Erickson Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing, MI 48843. Feel free to call with questions about the proposal submission process.

CONVENTION NEWS

To: Representatives of APA-Affiliated Organizations
 From: The 1999-2000 APA Congressional Fellows
 James L. Werth, Jr., PhD
 Nina Rossomando, PhD
 Kathy Hogan Bruen, PhD
 Natacha Blain, JD, PhD
 Subject: Community Service Proposal
 Date: April, 2000

According to the APA Ethical Principles of Psychologists and Code of Conduct, Principle F, psychologists "are encouraged to contribute a portion of their professional time for little or no personal advantage."

It has been estimated that 10,000+ psychologists attend the APA Annual Convention. This influx of professionals for the week offers the potential for significant contribution to the city's volunteer base during the week of the Convention. Currently, there is no coordinated effort to encourage attendees to participate in any sort of donation of time, energy, and expertise to the betterment of the city in which the Convention takes place. Similarly, there are no large-scale efforts to promote volunteer service in members' home communities.

In order to rectify this situation, we are asking APA Divisions; State, Provincial, and Territorial Psychological Associations; and APAGS to appoint a representative and commit to the following plan. Assign a representative of your group to assist with recruiting members to participate in the program. We will help this person match volunteer opportunities to the group's interests. This proposal has the support of L. Michael Honaker (APA Deputy CEO) and Judy A. Strassburger (Senior Director, APA Governance Affairs).

Our goal is to have each person attending the APA Convention provide at least two hours of volunteer work in the city where the Convention is held and have each psychologist/graduate student who does not attend the Convention provide at least two hours of volunteer service in his or her own community during the week the Convention takes place. Our hope is that those who volunteer while at the Convention will have a positive experience that will inspire them to continue volunteering when they return home, and that those who start by volunteering for a couple of hours at home will make an ongoing commitment.

As you know, this year's Convention will be held in Washington, DC. We have a list of agencies in DC with missions related to areas of traditional interest to psychologists which are interested in having small groups of one-time volunteers (e.g., organizations serving the homeless, children, older adults). We also can assist with arranging community workshops (e.g., at a church or school) or outreach opportunities (e.g., with a needle exchange program designed to prevent the spread of HIV disease) on subjects in which psychologists have expertise (e.g., ADHD, violence prevention, substance abuse treatment).

Ideally, we would like to see the program associated with already organized Convention activities in which your group will be participating (e.g., social hours) so that members could be signed up during these activities.

To begin the process, please contact James Werth, Jr. at 301-847-0318 or JamesWerth@aol.com. Thank you.

SECTION AND SIG
 CONVENTION NEWS

PREVENTION
 NOW A SECTION IN DIVISION 17

The Division 17 Executive Board has recently approved a Section on Prevention for the Division. Formerly a SIG in Division 17, the new Section on Prevention will "further the theory, research, teaching, and practice of prevention, advocacy, and public interest initiatives among counseling psychologists. The Section incorporates a full array of preventive, developmental, policy, advocacy, and community focused activities" (Prevention Section By-Laws, March 6, 2000). Members of the Section's Organizing Committee are: Robert Conyne, Sally Hage, Maureen Kenny, John Romano, and Mike Waldo. The Section is soliciting student poster proposals for the "Section Poster" Session at APA (Aug 7, 6-8 PM). This is an excellent opportunity for students and post graduates alike to present their work in prevention. Proposals should include the following: Title of Poster, Name and Affiliation of the Presenter(s), 500-1000 word Abstract outlining the Purpose, Activities, and Outcomes of the Project. Send your proposal to Dr. Maureen Kenny, Dept of Counseling, 308 Campion Hall, Boston College, Chestnut Hill, MA 02167. Deadline is June 19th. The Section will host a business meeting in the Division's Hospitality Suite on August 6th from 12-12:50. The Section will also be part of two Roundtables: August 5th, 1-1:50 and August 6th, 9-9:50, both are in Hall A of the Convention Center. Division members with interests in prevention are encouraged to attend these events. For further information contact:

Section for the Advancement of Women

The Section for the Advancement of Women has an exciting slate of programs scheduled for the 2000 APA Convention in Washington D.C. We welcome current and prospective members to join us for these events. Attending the Open Business Meeting is an excellent way to get involved with SAW projects and committees. Please note that a major focus for the SAW this year is defining our mission and operating principles and that both the Sunday Conversation Hour and Monday Strategic Planning Meeting are dedicated to this task. On Saturday, we will offer an experientially-based Skill Development Workshop that will provide a different kind of opportunity to engage in an interpersonal dialogue with each other relevant to our various multicultural identities. Below is the list of SAW-sponsored activities and programs. All meetings are scheduled in the Division 17 Hospitality Suite unless otherwise indicated. See you in D.C.!

George Washington University
Conference on Gender and Health in a Diverse Society
August 3, 2000

Organized and Sponsored by The Counseling Health Psychology Section of APA Division 17 and George Washington University

This conference on Gender and Health in a Diverse Society is designed to bring together psychologists and doctoral students interested in health issues to discuss the interface of gender and cultural issues with health and to promote greater application of gender and cultural issues to health psychology and behavioral medicine. In addition to presenting cutting edge ideas from leading researchers and practitioners, we hope to provide an environment for productive dialog among conference participants through interactive breakout sessions. This one-day conference is an opportunity to hear and interact with leading researchers/practitioners and share work with other interested colleagues, in a more intimate setting.

Keynote Presenters

Barbara L. Anderson, Ph.D., is a Professor in the Department of Psychology and the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the Ohio State University: Well-known for her extensive research and writing on breast cancer, she was a participant in the White House Women in Science and Technology Briefing in 1995. Her keynote presentation, “Biobehavioral aspects of cancer in women,” will focus on stress and cancer, featuring a discussion of psychological interventions for cancer patients to enhance their quality of life.

Will Courtenay, Ph.D., LCSW, is an Adjunct Professor at Sonoma State University and Founder and Director of Men’s Health

Consulting, Berkeley, California. Her workshop on the “6-Point Health Plan for working with Men” will identify psychosocial factors affecting the onset, progression, and management of men’s injuries and diseases and illustrate how men learn to adopt the very attitudes and behaviors that often increase their risks. Will will outline the 6-Point Health Plan for working with men, based on the only evidence-based practice guidelines for working with men.

Helen Neville, Ph.D., is an Associate Professor in the Department of Educational and Counseling Psychology and the Black Studies Program and Co-Director of the Multicultural Center for Research, Training and Consultation at the University of Missouri-Columbia. Her workshop on “Contextualizing Racial and Ethnic Minorities’ Health: An application of an Acculturation Stress Model and a Biopsychosocial Model for Perceived Racism” will explore two models that may help us understand factors contributing to racial/ethnic and gender differences in various health and mental health difficulties.

Redford Williams, M.D., is a Professor of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, Associate Professor of the Department of Medicine, Director of the Behavioral Medicine Research Center, and Head of the Division of Behavioral Medicine at Duke University Medical Center. Dr. Williams has been a prominent force in the area of psychological factors in cardiovascular disease. His presentation on, "Psychosocial Factors and Health: What can we do?" will explore the epidemiologic evidence for psychosocial risk factors, biobehavioral mechanisms, and interventions to ameliorate the harmful effects of medical illness, highlighting gender issues where they do and do not exist.

Continuing education credits will be available. Registration fees are $35 for professional attendees, $55 for those receiving CE credits and $20 for students. Costs include all conference materials and refreshments during the conference. For more information and registration materials, visit our website at <http://www.uiowa.edu/~hlthpsy/gwuconf.htm> or contact Kathleen Chwalisz at (618) 453-3538 or chwalisz@siu.edu.

Hello everyone. The hypnosis SIG has been busy preparing and participating in what we hope will be an informative and interesting meeting during the APA convention this year. On Saturday, August 5th, we will hold our annual business meeting from 2:00-2:50 p.m.. This meeting will be followed immediately with our Conversation Hour, from 3:00-3:50 p.m., where Dr. Dave Walling will be our featured speaker. Both of these events will be held in the Division 17 Hospitality Suite. On Sunday August 6th from 9:00-9:50 a.m., our SIG will be participating with the other Division 17 SIGs in a Roundtable Session to be held in Hall A of the Washington Convention Center. This will be a place for you to get further information about the SIG and its activities and to also meet your colleagues.

Hope to have a great turn-out at all of these events. If you wish further information about our SIG or wish to join it (at NO cost) please contact me at:

ANNOUNCEMENTS

E-JOURNAL PROPOSAL

Section for Lesbian, Gay, and Bisexual Awareness
Section for the Advancement of Women
Section for Ethnic and Racial Diversity

Suggested Title: The E-Journal of Multicultural Issues in Counseling Psychology (E-MICP)

Editorial Policy: As counseling professionals realize the increasing diversity in their communities and the profound influence of culture on the efficacy of clinical and educational initiatives, the need for multicultural research and knowledge becomes apparent.

The E-Journal of Multicultural Issues in Counseling Psychology is a scholarly, professional journal devoted to increasing the understanding of cultural influences in our world and to facilitating the multicultural initiatives of new and future scientist-practitioners in counseling and psychology.

E-MICP objectives:

- To increase our understanding of the influence of culture in our world.
- To promote cooperation among mental health practitioners working with minority and other marginalized populations.
- To facilitate the promotion of scientific perspectives not aligned with a dominant world view.
- To initiate young academics and graduate students in counseling psychology into scientific and research orientated initiatives.

Journal Content: The journal will welcome theoretical and empirical contributions, literature reviews, and commentary on previously published literature. The journal has an investment in the promotion of divergent scientific perspectives and in encouraging the work of academics and students conducting research that acknowledges the role of culture and that has a direct bearing upon dominant and minority populations in our communities.

Publication Plan: The journal will be published three times annually (February, June, October) by Cleveland State University via the World Wide Web. The publication of the E-MICP will be at no-expense to the Division of Counseling Psychology and the American Psychological Association. The E-MICP will uphold the policies and standards of APA and Division 17. These policies include the following:

- The APA Division of Counseling Psychology will have sole ownership of E-MICP and will assume all responsibility for content included in the electronic journal.
- Equal opportunity will be afforded to the selection of the editorial board and reviewers of E-MICP, without regard to race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, and economic or social status.
- The E-MICP also is committed to a process of open selection of editors and the periodic succession of people in editorial roles.
- A process of peer-review will be accorded all submissions to the E-MICP.
- More than 70% of articles published in E-MICP will be empirically or theoretically driven, with distinctions between these and commentary or review-oriented articles being made for archival purposes.
- All articles will adhere to the manuscript guidelines of the APA Publications Manual, including those addressing language, style, and ethics.
- The “instructions to authors” will also adhere to APA policies and demand compliance to APA manuscript preparation guidelines.
- The E-MICP will afford PsychINFO and PsychLIT gratis use of journal abstracts.

The E-MICP will be provided to the entire community of psychologists and mental health professionals and trainees for a period of one year – at which time subscriptions will be available to this network of scientist-practitioners and trainees. Libraries affiliated with APA-accredited Counseling Psychology programs and with institutions of higher learning that provide direct assistance to the development and promotion of the journal will be afforded one-year’s access at no-charge to the E-MICP.

The E-MICP will be maintained on a secure-server at Cleveland State University and will be accessible to those who obtain a password to access this site. Passwords will be afforded those who, upon providing evidence of their academic or professional status, request access to the site. After one year, these passwords will be available only to those subscribing to the publication.

As publisher, Cleveland State University (CSU) will be afforded recognition for its promotion of scholarship that enhances the public debate on issues pertinent to the well-being of diverse populations. This debate is consistent with CSU’s “urban mission” and can serve to promote this mission among peer institutions and individuals and professionals in human service.

4TH NATIONAL COUNSELING PSYCHOLOGY CONFERENCE

Mark your calendars now in order to participate in the 4th National Counseling Psychology Conference. It will be held March 2-4, 2001, at the Hyatt Regency in Houston, Texas. Take advantage of this historic opportunity to have a say in what happens to the future of Counseling Psychology, as well as connect with counseling psychologists from across our profession. A variety of venues are planned. Small working groups will work on social action issues. Presentations/symposia, poster sessions, and CE workshops will focus on current issues in training, diversity and social advocacy, and adaptation to changing trends. A call for papers will go out in June. For further information see www.div17.org/conference.

4th National Conference on Counseling Psychology

The Division 17 Executive Board reminds all division members to cast all TEN votes for Division 17 when the APA Council apportionment ballot comes out in the Fall. This will hopefully allow us to maintain our three seats, and possibly even increase our representation to four seats. The larger our representation in council, the more opportunity we as a division will have for input into APA.

NATIONAL MULTICULTURAL CONFERENCE AND SUMMIT II "THE PSYCHOLOGY OF RACE/ETHNICITY, GENDER, SEXUAL ORIENTATION, AND DISABILITY: INTERSECTIONS, DIVERGENCE AND CONVERGENCE"

Santa Barbara Double Tree Resort Hotel
January 25-26, 2001

The Conference

You are invited to attend the two-day Multicultural Conference and Summit II, which has been designed to address issues related to research, education and training, practice, and public interest issues. The conference brings together many outstanding psychologists who have worked in the areas of race relations and ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, and disability. This conference is being held in response to the high interest displayed at the first National Multicultural Conference and Summit held in January, 1999, in Newport Beach, California. The foci on several issues of diversity at this conference comes from the desire to address the unique as well as the overlapping issues of concern in several important areas of diversity. The goals for this important event include:

1. focus on theory, research, and practice issues of race, gender, sexual orientation, and disability,
2. explore how these sociodemographic variables intersect, converge, and diverge,
3. arouse awareness of difficult dialogues between (racial/ethnic minorities, gay/lesbians, women and disability) and within (i.e., intraethnic) these four groups, and
4. concentrate on methods and strategies that must be implemented to reduce bias, prejudice, and discrimination related to the four groups.

The conference is hosted and co-sponsored by several Divisions of the American Psychological Association, as well as by various other organizations and funding agencies.

Senior Men of Color will be honored: Art McDonald, Ph.D., Amado Padilla, Ph.D., Pat Okura, Ph.D., and Joe White, Ph.D.

Panel Presentations include the topics of:

Guidelines for Research with Ethnic Minority Communities; Psychoanalysis Here and Now; Dialogues on Race, Ethnicity, and Culture; White Hesitation in Addressing Diversity in Teaching, Research, Practice, and Advocacy; Women of Color in Films and Video Documentaries; Interventions with Multicultural Families; Diversity and HIV/AIDS; Hate Crimes and Trauma of Discrimination; Culturally Competent Counseling and Psychotherapy: Live Demonstrations; Financial Empowerment; Disability and Diversity; Sexism, Racism, and Heterosexism in Dysfunctional Institutions: Creating a Multicultural Workplace; Men, Sports, and Violence; Social Class, Poverty, and Affluence; Setting up a Multicultural Center for Training, Research, Practice, and Consultation. In addition, "Difficult Dialogues" will be facilitated in the areas of gender, disabilities, sexual orientation, race and ethnicity, and white privilege.

Dr. Norine Johnson, APA President for the year 2001, will provide a Luncheon Keynote Address, and Drs. Christine Hall, Oliva Espin, and Joe Trimble will provide an overview of the conference on a panel "Intersection of Diversities." A Town Hall meeting will be hosted by the representatives of the hosting divisions, including: Drs. Rosie Bingham, Division 17; Melba J. T. Vasquez, Division 35; Steve James, Division 44; and Derald Wing Sue and Lisa Porche-Burke, Division 45.

A graduate student poster session will be sponsored during the conference as well, partly funded by Editors of the Handbook of Multicultural Counseling.

Opening and Closing ceremonies will be conducted by Dr. J. Douglas McDonald and associates to allow participants to share, witness, and experience American Indian rituals.

Conference Location and Hotel Accommodations

The conference and accommodations will be at the Fess Parker Double Tree Resort, 633 East Cabrillo Blvd., Santa Barbara, CA 93103. Room rates are $170, single or double, $185 triple, and $200 quadruple, plus taxes. Call for Division 17 Fellowship Nominations Division 17 wishes to recognize its members who have had a significant impact on the specialty of Counseling Psychology within the areas of science, teaching and training, service delivery, administration, policy development, and/or advocacy. Fellowship is an honor bestowed upon members who have made "unusual and outstanding contributions or performance in the field of psychology." Fellows' contributions are seen as having enriched or advanced Counseling Psychology well beyond that normally expected of a professional psychologist.

Members must meet both APA and Division 17 requirements to receive Fellow status. APA requirements for Fellow status are:

- Receipt of a doctoral degree based in part upon a psychological dissertation, or from a program primarily psychological in nature, and conferred by a graduate school of recognized standing.
- Prior membership as an APA member for at least one year and membership in the Division through which the nomination is made.

- Active engagement at the time of nomination in the advancement of psychology in any of its aspects.
- Five years of acceptable professional experience subsequent to the granting of the doctoral degree.

Additional Division 17 requirements for Fellow in Division 17 of APA are:

- At least three years of post-graduate professional experience in counseling psychology.
- Membership in the Division for at least one year.
- Current engagement in education and training, practice, or research in counseling psychology.

- A significant and distinctive contribution of Counseling Psychology in one or more of the following areas: Scientific Achievement, Professional Practice Leadership and Administration, Teaching and Training, and Recognition Excellence.

The deadline for nominations is September 1, 2000. Nominations may be made by member or Fellow of the Division: nominations are acceptable. Nominations should be made in writing via letter or e-mail to the Chair of the Fellowship Committee.

Obituary

Dr. G. Frederic Kuder

Dr. Frederic (Fritz) Kuder passed away at his home on Sanibel Island, Florida, on April 2, 2000, at the age of 96. He described his career as dedicated to helping young people make satisfying career choices on the basis of a systematic survey of their interests. To this end he developed four different interest inventories, published in seven editions. Over a span of 60 years, they have been taken by more than a hundred million people in the US, Europe, and South America. He was also the author of several important articles on the measurement of interests, summed up in a 1977 book, Activity Interests and Occupational Choice. His Kuder-Richardson formulas, developed in 1937 to assess the reliability of scales, continue to be widely used today. He was a founding member and the second president of the (now) Division of Counseling Psychology of the American Psychological Association; co-founder of Personnel Psychology, and the founder and editor of Educational and Psychological Measurement.

Dr. Kuder was honored by Ohio State University's Centennial Achievement Award. He was the recipient of the E. K. Strong Gold Medal for his contributions to interest measurement, and the Leona Tyler Award for his sustained contribution to the field of counseling. Educational Testing Service presented him with their award for distinguished service to measurement. He is listed in American Men and Women in Science.

Dr. Kuder was the son of Frederic A. Kuder and Elizabeth Lablin Kuder. He was born on June 23, 1903 in Holly, Michigan, and spent his childhood in Menomonee, Wisconsin, where his father was a Presbyterian minister. He received a B.A. from the University of Arizona, his M.A. from the University of Michigan, and Ph.D. from Ohio State University. He began his career as an editor for pioneering psychologist J. McKeen Cattell's Science Press in New York City and was employed in the personnel department of Proctor and Gamble Co. He served as a University Examiner at the University of Chicago and retired as Professor of Psychology from Duke University.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Dorothy Linn DeBeck Kuder, and his brother, Merle S. Kuder.

Prepared by Dr. Donald G. Zytowski, long-time associate of Dr. Kuder.
